DeLonda ministers the Word of God with a prophetic anointing and she is able to connect with women on a personal level.

She unpacks the Word of God with power, relevance and grace. Her southern accent and inviting presence instantly engages and brings love and realness to women. DeLonda is serious about seeing women stand on their faith, have an authentic relationship with God and others, live according to Christ's standard and serve the Lord with their gifts and talents.

Her passion is contagious as she invigorates women to excel in their individual Christ-led pursuits. DeLonda fills her messages to the brim with life application making the Bible a practical how-to-do life book.

DeLonda is married to her husband Sean Adams and together they parent two great children, Sean Jr. and Sherry. She is an author, speaker, ministry leader, and entrepreneur.

DeLonda has overcome many things in her past that challenged everything God created her to be. Life might not have always been pleasant for DeLonda but trials, tribulations and the pruning of pain have matured and beautified this woman of God. For all her troubles she has received beauty for ashes, gladness for mourning and an anointing from God like none other.
